

Postcards from the imagination...

At the moment we may not be able to explore the world and new places in the same way we normally can.

So today, we want you to find out a new place virtually! Here's your step by step guide to exploring the world from your living room today:

1. Go to artsandculture.google.com (you do NOT need to put www!)
2. On this page you will find loads of different ways to explore new things via your computer. Scroll down and you will find links that will let you explore all the worlds' most famous landmarks!
3. Choose one and take the virtual tour. Click on different things to move around and zoom in.
4. We'd like you to send us a postcard! In your card tell us something you discovered on your tour, perhaps something surprised you. Also, a great way to unlock your imagination is to think about your senses: don't just tell us what you can see, imagine what you can hear, smell, touch, even taste!
5. Can you also jot down three things you found out about the place that you visited?

Share your findings with us by emailing beth@pieuk.org or sharing on social media @pieuksocial.
